ABOUT THE INSTITUTE

The institute starts its journey way back to the year 1942 with the name Bengal Ceramic Institute and later came to be known as College of Ceramic Technology in 1962, which was again further renamed as the Govt. College of Engineering & Ceramic Technology in 2005. The uniqueness of this institute is that, it is the oldest institute for imparting technical education in Ceramic Science and Engineering, in the Eastern Part of India and the only institute offering a full fledged Undergraduate and Postgraduate course in Ceramic Technology in the state of West Bengal. This college has seen the addition of two new B.Tech courses in Information Technology and Computer Science & Engineering which was initiated under the West Bengal University of Technology in the year 2000 and 2001 as well as the M.Tech course in Ceramic Technology and Information Technology which was introduced in the year 2006 and 2012 respectively. The college has received grants from World Bank under TEQUIP-I in 2005 and finally in the year 2012 UGC has bestowed the status of autonomy for its academic excellence.

Location: The College can be well approached from major railway stations such as Sealdah (2.5Km) and Howrah (8Km) and the Netaji Subhas International Airport (12Km), Kolkata

ELIGIBILITY

The seminar is open to teachers & students of engineering colleges, research institutes and professionals from industry.

IMPORTANT DATES

Deadline for submission of filled-in application:

OBJECTIVE OF THE SEMINAR

Cloud computing is the biggest buzz in the computer world these days. Research firm IDC thinks that cloud computing will reach $52 billion in 2014. Every big industry houses like Google, Amazon prefers to avail this domain of computing & storage and spend a good amount from their annual turnover for preparing cloud hierarchy. In cloud one can do everything starting from running of applications to storing data off-site as well as running entire operating systems. This seminar aims to give exposure to pupils on cloud computing and its usage from its beginning to advance level. At the same time some research aspects would be also discussed.
